A Message from the Chairman

A Champion for others... This past month, we mourned the loss of a great friend and supporter of the foundation. Bruce Sterling Dalrymple personified the essence of a man who loved his community, his profession, and above all else, his family. He volunteered for 20 years as a board member of one of our nation's greatest park and recreation districts, spent 30 years working in the retirement industry, building homes for thousands of seniors, and most recently, represented his community as a city commissioner. Bruce did all that, but only after showering his love and attention on his beautiful wife and five children.

Bruce's involvement with the foundation created the greatest watershed opportunity the foundation has been blessed with in our eight years of operation. It was Bruce who believed in the enabling power of bringing friends together on a golf course for a good cause, and so began the Touchmark Foundation Golf Tournament. To date, the tournament has generated more than $100,000 in direct support for the foundation's mission.

Please consider a donation to the Touchmark Foundation in Bruce's memory. In his last days, Bruce personally made this request of all his friends.

Thank you, Bruce, for giving us all an opportunity to be a champion for others!

Board member, Margaret Carley addresses families in Oklahoma on dementia

Earlier this spring, Touchmark Foundation board member Margaret Carley traveled to Touchmark at Coffee Creek in Edmond, Oklahoma, to share her knowledge and experience as both an attorney and nurse dealing with age-related dementia.

Margaret also spent time meeting with residents and family members, thanking them for their years of support of the foundation.

Our many friends at Touchmark at Coffee Creek were just awarded third place in the nonfiction category at last month's Heartland New Day Bookfest. Previously, we have mentioned the As We Lived It books that tell the stories of people who lived during World War II.

All three volumes are available by visiting the foundation's website. Indeed, you'll be delighted and moved by the many short stories in these volumes.

Next Issue – Wisconsin high school students raising funds and raising beds...
